FROM THE WESTERN DEPARTMENT. (ien. Halleck has telegraphed the following:

Sr. Louis, March 13. Hon, E. M. Stanton :- Our artillery and avery yesternay attacked the enemy's works, we half mile west of Paris, Tenn. The enemy was driven out with a loss of 100 in killed, gounded and prisoners. Our loss is Capt, Buli the artillery, 4 men killed and 4 wounded. A cavairy tores sent out from Lebanon, Mo., the ked one of Prices guerrilla parties, killing the Republican says a messenger arrived at an cook last night bringing auditional intelgame of the battle. The engagement took ce on Little Sugar Creek, where a skirmish ses piace on their march down. In anticipan of an attack on the South side, Gen. Cursordered the traits to be drawn up on the North side, but unexpectedly the attack was commenced on their rear, North of our army, 1,500 to 2,000 cavalry. Gen. Segel with 800 hen protected the train for several hours, altermilely retreating and stopping to hold the rebels check, while the trains pushed backward to the main bodies of the army. While thus engaged Gen. Segel was three times surrounded, at he cut his way through each time.

The principal lighting on Thursday was done y tien. Sigel. In this way on Friday the enigenent became general, and continued so proughout, the officers behaving with much galantiy. The most exposed position was occuged by Col. Cary's division, and the greatest s was suffered by them. A letter from Col. ary says, that the losses in the 4th and 9th ia, 35th Illinois, and 25th Missouri, are from a to 200 in each regiment killed and wounded. The rebel officers killed and wounded are, Brig. Gen. McCulloch, killed; Brig. Gen. Slack, a gerously wounded ; Col. McIntosh, killed; B. H. Rives, 2d regiment Volunteers, dangrously wounded; Col. Herbert of the 32d wisana, killed, or dangerously wounded; Maj. en Sterling Price, slightly wounded. Thiren pieces of artillery were captured by our near among them is one lost by Gen. Sigel at Wilson's Creek. Our loss is regarded as 800 or (iii), ki led and wounded. The rebel loss is at snown, but it is supposed to be 2000 to 000. A large number of rebel prisoners were akin, probably 1500 were brought in. 2000 latians were engaged in the battle. 18 of our illed were scalped by them. Gen. Price, with hour 1000 men, retreated northward, and then ook an easterly direction, Gen. Jeff. C. Davis ater him.

FROM THE POTOMAC.

Washington, March 13. A company of Jout 25 contrabands from the country recentremounted by the rebels arrived here to-day. Ley report that the resident sympathisers and the rebels are hurrying their negroes South. Accounts received to-night from the Virginia le represent nothing of special interestamong 11:30 P. M. Telegrams received to-night nom Newport News and Fortress Monroe, report all quiet along the lines.

FROM FORT CRAIG.

St. Louis, March 13. A military express as just arrived from Fort Craig, with news of crous conflicts between our forces and the lexans, which lasted from 9 o'clock on the morning of the 21st ult., until sundown of the sine day. The fight commenced between a portion of our troops under Col. Roberts, and he enemy across the Rio Grande, with varied necess until one or two o'clock of that day. The enemy were supposed to have had eight field pieces.

The battle was commenced by our artillery and skirmishers, and soon it became general .loward evening the guns of the enemy were sienced. They, however, made a desperate charge on our howitzer battery, but were repulsed with great loss. The Texans now charged desperstely and furiously with picked men, about 600 strong, on McBray's battery. They were armed with carbines, revolvers, and long seven pound lowie-knives. After discharging their carbines at close quarters, they drew their revolvers, and seached the battery amid a storm of grape and master. The New Mexicans of Col. Pinas' legiment, became panic stricken, and inglonously fled.

Cap. Plympton with the United States instory stood his ground and fought nobly until were than one half were numbered with the but. With his artillery out down, and with support repelled, killed, wounded or flying The field, Capt. McCray sat down calmly and quietly on one of his guns and with revolver bland, retusing to fly or desert his nost, he ongla to the last and gloriously died like a hero, a last man at his guns. The Texans suffered emily in this desperate charge.

Many of our officers greatly distinguished themselves on this day. Kit Carson was in tanmand of a regiment of volunteers who did 30.4 service during the action and behaved well. Our loss is about 200 killed and wouniel. The loss of the enemy is believed to be tach greater. The greatest confidence is reand in Col. Cary and it the volunteers will their duty the Texans will be ignominiously down from the country.

Winehester, March 13. Noon. Heavy exdesions were heard here, at 10 o'clock last light from the direction of Strasburg which are elieved to have been caused by the enemy blow p the stone arch bridge over Cedar Creek be prevent our pursuit of Jackson. Last night was acknowledged by secession ladies to have been the most quiet for six months. Several thousand soldiers were in town and the remark was made—No wonder your arms are victorious itom the excellent discipline of your troops.

FROM MEMPHIS.

Sr. Louis, March 13. A special dispatch to the Democrat from Cairo, 12th, says a gentleman who left Memphis Saturday, and arrived here this morning, reports there is trouble at Memphis. Many persons were leaving the city. Cotton, molasses, sugar, and other articles of merchandise are being shipped down the river.

The policy of leaving the city was discussed .-Speeches were made every night, and all means were used to check the increasing demoralization and to excite a war spirit.

Gen. Bragg had come up from Pensacola with 10,000 men. These were sent to reinforce New Madrid and Island No. 10. Gens. Bragg and Beauregard were at Jackson, Tenn., constructing fortifications, and all the negroes in the country are called out to work on them.

Martial law had been proclaimed in Memphis last Monday, for the purpose of checking insub-ordination, and to compel the citizens to turn out and fight. No defensive preparations are being made between there and New Orleans.

Forts Randolph and Pillow are strong positions, but less formidable than Columbus. The rebels confess that the reduction of these two places will give us all the points on the Mississippi. Their gunboats are all at Island No. 10 and carry several 74 and 32 pounders. The fleet is under command of Capt. Hollins.

A messenger from New Madrid reports all quiet this morning.
